

QUALITY

We are committed to quality and as such prize our reputation as the world's leading supplier and distributor of high quality plastics. Guaranteeing quality is our most valuable asset, that's why we ensure everything we do meets ISO 9001:2000 standards.

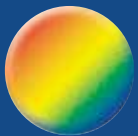

DISTRIBUTION

We not only guarantee quality materials but distribution to where you need it, when you need it. Swift UK, Ireland and mainland European delivery, with the capability to meet 24-hour lead times if required, are our promises to you.

RELIABILITY

With over 50 years experience in the plastics market we have built strong relationships with suppliers to ensure consistent, dependable and repeatable solutions. We work closely with our customers at every stage to ensure we deliver on time, every time.

COLOUR

We have the technology to meet any colour specification. Our computer-aided colour matching allows for crystal clarity and cost effective results.

Location of Hellyar Companies

Hellyar is ideally located to respond rapidly to all our customer's needs, even meeting 24-hour lead times if required.

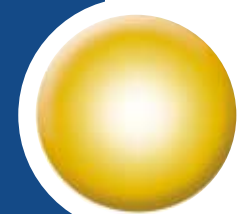

We manufacture and distribute quality coloured and filled compounds from our UK and European facilities, and have been increasing our commodity trading business to meet growing demand in Europe, the Americas, the Middle East and the Far East.

So wherever and whenever you need quality plastic solutions, trust Hellyar to deliver.

We've been the UK's leading independent compounder and distributor of thermoplastics for over 50 years. Internationally, our name is synonymous with the consistent and reliable supply of quality plastic solutions.

Quality is guaranteed wherever and whenever you place your order, thanks to our advanced production facilities and accreditation to ISO 9001:2001. Finally, being independent, we have no obligations to outside shareholders, just a single-minded commitment to our customers.

That's why we're the only choice for quality plastics.

A leader in thermoplastics distribution

Hellyar supplies a complete range of only the highest quality commodity thermoplastics.

Sourced through exclusive distribution partnerships with some of the world's premier polymer manufacturers, our commodity polymers are second to none and quality of this level can make all the difference. It is this assurance, coupled with our dedication that sets us apart from the competition and ensures delivery of well-proven commodity polymers.

We not only guarantee quality materials but also distribution to where you need it, when you need it. Swift UK, Ireland and mainland European delivery, with the capability to meet 24-hour lead times if required, are our promises to you.

Compounded products

With unrivalled industry knowledge and experience, we produce a wide range of top quality conventional and mineral-filled compounds to meet our customers' rigorous specifications.

Our service is fully supported by a team of technical experts to ensure you get the best solutions for your needs. Plus we can incorporate additives into your compounds to enhance your moulded end products even further.

Additive systems

We can introduce a wide range of additive systems into compounded products to optimise the performance of your moulded end solutions.

Whatever sector you operate in, our specialist technicians will advise you on the ideal and most cost-effective additives for your needs.

Commodity Trading

Trade flows are continually changing. However we have the extensive geographical reach, trading experience and logistics expertise to identify new supply opportunities and take advantage of a physical arbitrage and spare capacity.

We have seen increasing demand in Europe for products produced in the Americas, the Middle East and the Far East and we are rapidly expanding our commodity trading business without compromising on service and the high expectations of our most discerning customers.

Covering a broad range of products, we bring sophisticated commodity trading to your doorstep. We manage risk and deliver bespoke supply solutions.

So when you need a plastics solution, access global polymer supply through our team of experts.

Expert technical support

At Hellyar, we aren't satisfied with simply providing the best quality polymers. We have the technical expertise to support you through your manufacturing process - and we want to use it. We work closely with you throughout the process, advising on technical issues to ensure you can produce exceptional quality products from our polymers. Regardless of the requirements of your end product, Hellyar has experts on hand to inform you about all the materials, processing conditions and much more. It is reliable and switched-on advice, ensuring the best possible return on your investment. We go far beyond supply.
